

June 4, 2020

Where Are You Going?

Luis Angel López

There is only one path in life. The path of the Lord is the path of love and happiness. The other way leads to bitterness and suffering. If your law forbids you to do good and remains silent in the face of injustice, listen to your heart and decide where you want to go.

Your law forbids you to tell the truth. But what kind of law forces you to lie and does not even let you say thank you and get closer to God. What kind of law tramples on the innocent, while protecting criminals? It is a criminal law; a law that does not care about justice, but mundane interests, and opposes the divine plans of the Lord. It is a wicked law that will be judged for all its evil.

And what does your law say about harassment, defamation, theft, murder, and so many other heinous crimes against humanity? My enemies rebelled against God and are always attacking me so that I get sick and can no longer serve God. They steal everything from me and publish it to make me suffer and make fun of me. If you know how much harm they do me and you do not care because you only want to have access to my private information, then you also become their accomplices. It is as if you were applauding them and celebrating their evil so that they continue hurting me, while I protect you and give you the Lord's blessings so that you may always be very happy. If they attack me and do me great harm, let them. They will receive their punishment for all their evil in due time, for the Lord forbade them to harm me and He will do me justice. But do not stain your hands with innocent blood for their sins too. They are already condemned to the fire of hell and do not care if you also get lost.

You must choose which path you want to follow: the path of good or the path of evil. "No one can serve two masters. Either you will hate the one and love the other, or you will be devoted to the one and despise the other." (Lk 16:13) If you rebel against God like my enemies, you will suffer very much like them. But if you always keep the Lord's commandments, you will be very happy and have eternal life. Do you want to be with my enemies and lose yourselves in the darkness? Or do they want to shine like angels of God, like Mrs. Lucy, who only wanted to hug me and protect me; or like that good man who accepted the Holy Will of God and wanted to take care of me like a father. "If you accept, I will always bless you and your whole family." (Heavenly Father) Be humble of heart like them and always do good. Do not be fooled by my enemies and do not sin with them. The things of this world are fleeting, and only God is our happiness. Only you decide where you want to go.

There are laws that only protect the rich and powerful of this world. They are unjust laws that oppose the Holy Will of God, because He forbade my enemies to harm me. God's judgments are always perfect, but your laws defends them while they commit all kinds of crimes against me. Therefore you must decide in your heart who you want to be with, the Lord or that evil people who rebelled against Him. Always do good so that you may always be very happy, and do not participate in their crimes that offend God so much. May God bless you always and protect you from all evil.